One of the most unusual vintage Moroccan carpets we have found, this Oujda has a unique motif and construction. This tribe resides in the northeastern corner of Morocco, taking on the influences of Berber tribes in Algeria. This piece has a minimal and slightly rustic feel, with a pattern of two vertical forms joining, symbolizing coupling. The ground is a flat weave construction (hanbel style) with motifs extending to a higher pile. Woven in natural undyed goat hair and sheep's wool in shades of brown and oatmeal.
